SUMMARY:  Carmel Rio Road, LLC (Brian Clark) requests approvals for a 42-unit subdivision on 7.92 acres on Val Verde Drive in Carmel Valley. The project includes 31 Market Rate lots and one Inclusionary Housing lot containing 11 Inclusionary units (2 very low, 5 low and 4 moderate). Subdivision applications deemed complete after October 16, 2007 are subject to the 2010 General Plan (Policy LU-9.3). This application was deemed complete as of December 9, 2010.

From the point that the application was submitted, staff identified issues including conflicts with General Plan policies. Over time, the applicant has worked to address the various issues; however, land use remains a significant unresolved issue that requires Board interpretation. The General Plan/Carmel Valley Master Plan land use map designates Val Verde Drive as LDR/1
(low density residential, one unit per acre). Policy CV-1.10 states that a density of up to four units per acre may be allowed provided at least 25% of the units are developed for low and moderate income or workforce housing. Staff interprets the language to mean that the added density is at the discretion of the County and only if the units are made affordable by design (not deed restrictions). Policy CV-1.10 concludes that the policy is not intended to be used in conjunction with other density bonus provisions, specifically Policy CV-1.11. The project proposes to apply the four units per acre density bonus from CV-1.10, PLUS a separate and additional density bonus is requested pursuant to the State Density Bonus provisions. Staff interprets that the intent of Policy CV-1.10 is to allow one density bonus or the other, but not both CV-1.10 and the State Density Bonus combined. Staff has also identified inconsistency with development standards of the LDR zone in Title 21 (e.g.; lot size). Another unresolved issue is proof of access (Policy CV-3.6) which was the basis for the Planning Commission denial. The applicant proposes to use Val Verde Drive, a non-exclusive, privately held easement, for access to the project. Since the Planning Commission meeting, the applicant has filed a lawsuit to seek a judicial determination as to the use of the Val Verde Drive easement.

Interim Ordinance 5171, as modified and extended by Ordinance Nos. 5172 and 5193, establishes a process for determining General Plan consistency for discretionary projects pending the adoption of applicable programs and ordinances to implement the 2010 General Plan. In accordance with this ordinance, staff prepared a consistency analysis of the application and determined that the project is inconsistent with the General Plan. On November 9, 2011, the Planning Commission agreed with staff’s General Plan consistency determination and afforded the applicant 60 days to request a General Plan Amendment or revise the application to attain consistency. The applicant did not revise the application and waived the 60-day period in order to be heard as soon as possible by the Planning Commission. On January 25, 2012, the Planning Commission denied the Combined Development Permit due to inconsistency with the 2010 General Plan.

On February 3, 2012, the applicant appealed the Planning Commission’s denial of the Combined Development Permit on the basis that the application is consistent with General Plan Policy C-3.6 and that staff should be directed to do an independent judgment of the “Draft EIR” that the applicant submitted on November 9, 2011. On March 7, 2012, the applicant requested a six month continuance of the public hearing on the appeal because “additional time is needed by the applicant in order to conform to the Planning Staff and Planning Commission’s requirement to seek a court judgment for the Val Verde easement” (see Exhibit No. 5, Letter from Pamela Silkwood).
